SC Coalition for Lawsuit Reform Announces Change in Leadership

Otis Rawl to Take Over as Executive Director

COLUMBIA, SC – The South Carolina Coalition for Lawsuit Reform today announced that Otis Rawl, one of the original founders of the Coalition and former President and CEO of the South Carolina Chamber of Commerce, will take over for Earl Hunter as its new executive director. Most recently, Rawl was the President and CEO of the Lexington Chamber of Commerce and retired in August.

Earl Hunter has served as the Coalition's Executive Director since 2012 and has taken a position with the consulting firm, The Southern Group.

"South Carolina has long been known as a great place for business, but changes are needed to address the growing number of court cases that target job creation and put small businesses in jeopardy," said Otis Rawl. "The Coalition will continue to lead the effort to improve South Carolina's ranking on our legal climate through research, advocacy and helping elect legislators who understand the importance of the issue."

"I have thoroughly enjoyed my work leading the Coalition over the last eight years," said Earl Hunter. "The work is very important for our state and our business climate. I have no doubt Otis will do a great job."

The South Carolina Coalition for Lawsuit Reform serves as the united voice for the business community on tort and workers' compensation issues; coordinating lobbying, legal, grassroots and public relations activities. For more information, visit www.sclawsuitreform.org.

RULES

Print the advertiser's name from each ad and the name of the team you think will win the game, from the games listed under the advertisements. Tie games will not count unless you predict a tie. Enter the total number of points you think will be scored between both teams in Game 1 in the box on the entry form. This will serve as a tie breaker with the closest number of points being named the winner. Entries must be mailed to the Kershaw News-Era at P.O. Box 398, Kershaw, SC 29067 and be postmarked by Friday. The contestant picking the most games correctly will be the winner or in the event of a tie the person with the closest points for the tie breaker will be selected. Each weekly contest is open to everyone except employees of this paper and their spouses. Only official entry blanks will be accepted. No photocopies of the entry form will be allowed. You must write down the advertiser's name in the space provided on the entry form or your entry will be disqualified. Only 1 winner will be selected each week. Late entries will be disqualified. One entry per person.
