Bringing a fresh menu with fresh menu items, a new business can be found in Tuttle, often located at the 300 block of East Main Street. B-Ray's Barbecue has an identifiably red trailer with their name emblazoned on the side.

Owners/operators Brad and Kayla Pipkins can be contacted at (918) 917-0791 for advance orders. The two recently started in the barbecue business after being brought to the area by Brad's career.

"We bought the truck in July," Kayla said Thursday. "We moved to this part of Oklahoma because my husband was in the oilfield."

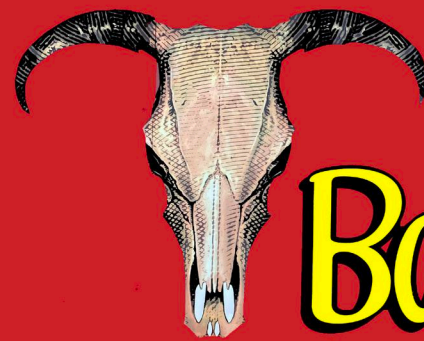

Serving up good, quality barbecue is the American Dream for the Pipkins.

"My husband was pretty into barbecuing, and he was wanting a food trailer. Our goal is for him to eventually be able to quit his job in the oilfield and do this full-time. He enjoys the cooking, and the whole concept of smokers, the turnout, and it's really rewarding when people like you're stuff."

B-Ray's will be on the move, and can show up to cater events.

"We can set up pretty much anywhere we want as long as we have the appropriate permits," Kayla said. "We can go to events, and do catering, and we're experienced."

For more information on B-Ray's, see their Facebook page or their ad in this paper.
