

Tuttle Chamber enjoys giving back to community

By Jayson Knight
Staff Writer

The Tuttle Area Chamber of Commerce is involved in a lot of community involvement, economic development, and ribbon cuttings for the community. The chamber puts real focus on its Annual Teacher Appreciation Breakfast.

Leslie Walker, Tuttle Area Chamber of Commerce Director, said last week, “We have welcomed several new businesses to the area. We really promote our Teacher Appreciation Breakfasts with Bridge Creek and Tuttle.”

The Tuttle Chamber recognizes several businesses throughout each year. They coordinated nine ribbon cuttings last year, including four local business openings. Chamber officials believe the City of Tuttle’s investment into its own internet service utility could improve the city’s appeal to businesses.

“We love the new accessibility to the internet that people are enjoying,” Walker said. “The city recently received the necessary support via sales tax to improve the city’s streets, and a bond that will relocate/renovate the Tuttle Police Station.”

The Chamber director said that the Chamber appreciates being involved with the community, and will look to do more in 2020.

“We love that all the partners are coming together to really improve our area and kind of reach out and get sales tax dollars coming into our community,” Walker said. “We would like to see more beautification in the future, a Welcome to Tuttle sign, just kind of more of an overall interest in this area. We want to make it a place that we’re all proud of.”

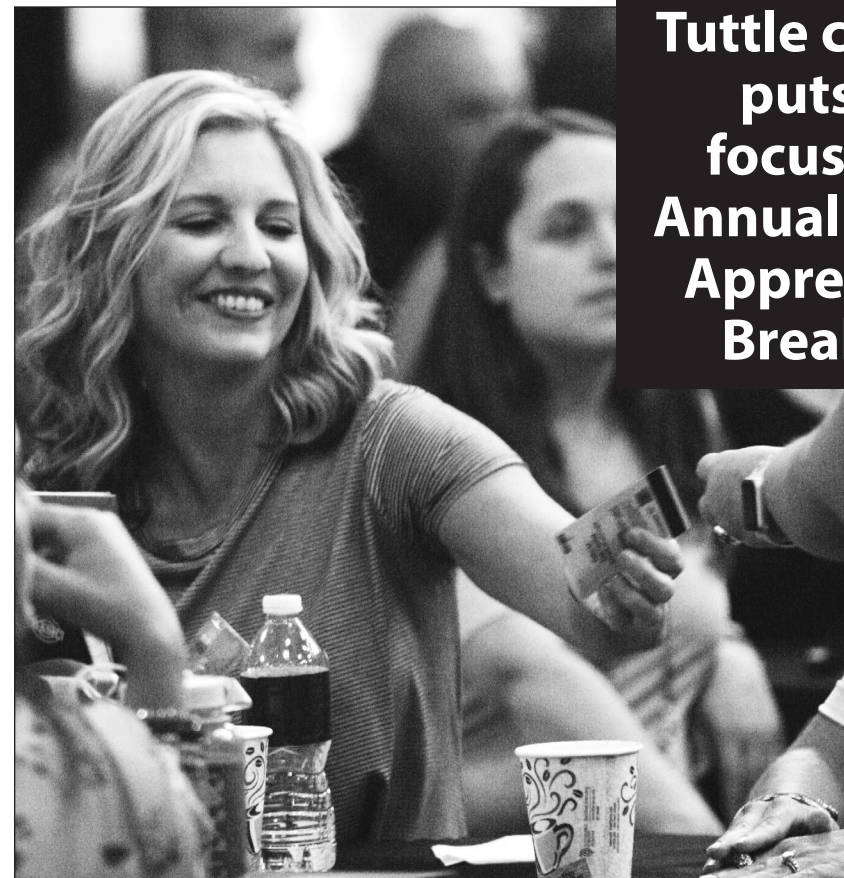

For more information about the Chamber and its events, check their website tuttleareachamber.com, which includes a directory for Chamber businesses.

-Photos by Jayson Knight

Chamber Director Leslie Walker speaks at the Teacher Appreciation Breakfast, a back-to-school treat for Tuttle and Bridge Creek teachers, hosted by the Chamber.

Tuttle chamber puts real focus on its Annual Teacher
Appreciation Breakfast!

Tuttle teachers receive gifts from the Tuttle Area Chamber at the Commerce’s Annual Teacher Appreciation Breakfast.