

Tamara Cole

Tamara Cole, mother of Kyla Cox, Kellen Mack and Camdyn Cole, is a dedicated and experienced Respiratory Therapist, with a history of working at OU Medical Center and Summit Hospital in Edmond. She and her husband, Kevin are active in their community and in the Prairie View School system. She grew up in Southwest Oklahoma City and is the daughter of Loye and Lorene Cox. Not only is she working in an essential medical community, she is using her voice to promote social distancing, and other proactive measures to protect those at risk from this current health threat.

Tamara is a humble woman who sees the contribution of others as far more important than her own contributions.

Shawn Haworth

Shawn Haworth is an assistant produce manager. He gets up and goes to work every day to ensure customers have food to put on their table, and doesn't think twice about it, that is his job. He is now required to wear a mask, gloves and fill out a health questionnaire every day just to do his job. He shouldn't have to worry about what he is being exposed to or what germs he is bringing home with him. It is people like him that care enough to put himself at risk to help you feed your family. This it's the face of a Hometown Hero.
