

Palm Beach Zoo Welcomes Baby Black Howler Monkey

Palm Beach Zoo & Conservation Society has announced the birth of a baby black howler monkey. Katie and Guillermo von Howler welcomed a baby on December 27, in the howler habitat.

This is the second baby born to the proud parents, who welcomed a baby boy Reginald von Howler on March 7, 2019. The Zoo veterinary team were happy to report mother and baby are doing well. The baby's gender will not be determined until a full health checkup is performed in the coming weeks.

"Black Howler monkeys live in tropical rain forests in close knit family groups. It is great to see a growing family of howlers thriving right here at Palm Beach Zoo," said Margo McKnight, president and CEO of Palm Beach Zoo & Conservation Society. "Katie and Guillermo have proved to be wonderful parents, and we are so excited to have two baby howlers."

The howler pair are part of the AZA's Species Survival Plan program, which oversees the research, husbandry, management and educational initiatives of its 238 accredited zoos and aquariums.

Black howler monkeys are among the largest of the New World monkeys and are native to South America. Females are blonde in color and males are black. Baby howler monkeys are blonde like their mothers and the male babies turn black around two and a half

Screening of "I Am Jane Doe" and Panel Discussion Saturday

In recognition of Human Trafficking Awareness Month, Green Dot Palm Beach County is hosting a screening and discussion of the critically acclaimed documentary "I Am Jane Doe" this Saturday, Jan. 11, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. It will be held in the Allied Health Building Room 101, Palm Beach State College, Lake Worth Campus, 4200 Congress Avenue, Lake Worth.

The film chronicles the epic battle that American mothers are waging on behalf of their middle-school daughters, victims of sex trafficking on Backpage.com, an adult classified advertising website.

After the screening, community members and parents are invited to join a discussion and learn how they can put an end to this horrific epidemic. The screening is suggested for ages 12 and older. All minors must be accompanied by an adult.
