

Mid-MS Regional Library System updates 60-year-old logo

Press Release

The Mid-Mississippi Regional Library System (MMRLS) has unveiled a new logo for 2020, representing the first significant change in the library's branding since the system's founding over 60 years ago.

This new look exemplifies what a modern library represents today and in the future, and highlights the system's renewed and concentrated focus on providing top-notch excellent customer service.

"We want our guests to know we are a library system that is focused on making a difference in their lives. Our goal is to continually adapt to the needs of our communities, providing them with the materials, opportunities, and spaces they need to succeed and grow," said Josh Haidet, MMRLS Executive Director.

In addition to offering the residents of Attala, Holmes, Leake, Montgomery, and Winston Counties with access to over 3.5 million books for people of all ages to enjoy, the library system also offers many other services and materials. Digital library offerings include e-books, e-audiobooks, TV shows, movies, music, digital magazines, research databases, learning centers for test prep (GED, ACT, AS-VAB, CDL, etc.), and more.

Library users can also take advantage of public access computers, Wi-Fi access, print, copying, and fax services, along with vast collections of genealogy and local history items, and year-round family-friendly programming.

"We are really excited about our new logo, and the future of our library system," said Brandon Cain, MMRLS Marketing and Access Coordinator. "Library staff and administration have been working hard to introduce new customer friendly library policies to make your library experience more enjoyable, and we believe this logo helps to communicate those efforts to our guests."

For more information about what your local library has to offer please visit or call your local MMRLS branch location or go to our website mmrls.lib.ms.us.

All library services are made possible thanks to the continued financial support of your local elected officials.
