

FREEDOM CHURCH

This morning began with prayer for those effected by this COVID-19 virus. Not only for those who are ill but those who may be financially effected. We pray for our nation, our government officials and all other nations and government officials. We pray for our broyhrs and sisters around the world.

what we could be facing. "God is our Refuge and our Strength and a very Present Help in time of trouble."

Our sympathies are to the ones in our community who have lost loved ones and May the God of Peace Comfort you.

God Bless You and God Bless America!

KENNER CHURCH OF GOD

This morning we had a short message which included Psalm 91, Isaiah 26:20, and Matthew 4:7. Psalm 91 tells us that because you make the LORD which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation; there shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. Isaiah says Come, my people, enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doors about thee: hide thyself as it were for a little moment until the indignation be overpast. In Matthew Jesus responds to satan telling Him to jump off the Temple dome quoting Psalm 91:11-12. Jesus responded It is written again, thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. So if you know Jesus do not fear but do be prudent.

We thank God for all the praise reports that were expressed this morning. God is so good and faithful to His saints. Please remember to pray for Bob Copeland, Paul and Helen, and all the ones that are on our continued list. Especially be in prayer for this Covid-19 pandemic and for protection of all the medical personal and first responders that are taking care of those infected. Pray for a quick end to this pandemic. Our sincerely condolences to the families of Mona Jones, Don Brown, and Lewis Wilson. It was wonderful to witness the marriage of Faith Ragan and Jordan Rinehart Saturday evening. We pray God's blessing on this marriage.

JD Fritchey sang a beautiful special, "No One Stands Alone."

Our message this week was based on Daniel 6. This is the story of Daniel in the lion's den. Not only was God able to preserve Daniel in this den, but because of his experience God received glory from a pagan king. And this king spread the good news of God's splendor all over the kingdom. God does not always keep us from the lions. Sometimes he saves us while we are in the den.

Please join us at Kenner for Bible study and worship. Adult Sunday School begins at 10:00 followed by worship at 11:00.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Concerning the outbreak of this dreaded Coronavirus, Seaton Church chose to cancel their usual Sunday Service. However, a Drive Thru Communion and Prayer service was conducted, as several members did take advantage of this offering. As it is certainly a "Call to Prayer," we also must be diligent in the safekeeping of ourselves and of others. Yet, as Pastors and Leaders, the desire is, to try to meet the needs of the congregation. Phone-lines are always open for Counsel, Prayer or any other way that assistance can be give to you. Please do not hesitate, but also let's heed the words so aptly spoken by our newspersons and stay at home, unless absolutely necessary to be out. Pastor Helen sends out a Prayer Alert that, please every Christian, be praying that an end might come to this dilemma we are in and or

Our church service took a new turn this Sunday as we split into two groups; the first service was at 9:00 for those 60 and over, and the second was at 11:00 for the rest of the congregation. This change was in keeping with efforts to contain spread of the Corona virus.

Pastor Jack asked us to pray this week for our church, the congregation, and our community. He urged us to seek out people who are strugg-gling, and lead them to the foot of the cross. We need to be the catalyst for change in the hearts of those who feel persecuted.

We read from the scripture of Matthew, that blessed are the peacemakers. They must understand conflict and how to resolve it through prayer. We were also reminded of last week's message of the untamed tongue, and that the ability to restrain our tongues is a measure of Christian maturity.

Please remember those who are ill in our prayers this week, and those who are homebound without family or friends for support.

First Baptist Church invites you to worship with us. We will continue to keep you posted as to times and services via Facebook and our sign in front of the church.

DIXON FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

(Disciples of Christ)

Our church services have been cancelled for the next two weeks, March 29 and April 5, as requested by government officials. We are hopeful that we can resume normal services for Easter. Please be safe, and may God bless and keep you.

Everyone feels anxious at one time or another. It is a normal part of life. It is our body's way of telling us that something might be wrong - that we might be facing some potential danger or are feeling symptoms of an illness. If we had no feelings of anxiety, we might put ourselves in all kinds of danger that could end up in disaster.

Anxiety for the Christian however can be more. It may be an "early warning system" that God has put in our hearts, through the Holy Spirit, to get our attention to let us know that something may be going wrong in our walk with Him and He wants us to make things right with Him.

God has many ways to use anxiety to get our attention. He may trouble our hearts when we read His word, listen to a hymn, hear a sermon, speak with Him in prayer, see a picture of His children suffering or when we are having a conversation with a friend. His Spirit is always at work in our hearts and it is good to be troubled with anxiety that comes from God.

The writer of Psalm 94 was having a huge problem with anxiety. He must have been deeply troubled by many things that were overwhelming him and seemingly beyond his control. Note his words: "When anxiety was great within me" - not simply a minor incident, but something very, very troubling.

Then note what happened: Your "consolation" or perhaps better understood as "comfort" - "brought joy to my soul." It is like Jesus saying, "Let not Your heart be troubled. Believe in me. This is my plan for You. Trust Me."

Pansy: a flower for all seasons

Pansies put on a happy face for Missouri's spring and fall.

COLUMBIA, MO - If there's a plant that deserves the title of "flower for all seasons," it is the pansy, says University of Missouri Extension horticulturist David Trinklein.

At any given time in North America, you will find pansies blooming prolifically somewhere.

This cool-loving garden flower flourishes in winter in far southern states and in summer in northern regions. Midwesterners enjoy pansy's unique palette of colors and delicate fragrance in spring and fall.

Late March and early September are ideal months to plant them in Missouri for color that extends for many weeks.

Many confuse pansy with its more petite relative, the viola. Both have flowers with five petals. However, pansy has four petals pointing up and one pointing down. In contrast, three of viola's petals point up and two point down. Its flowers also are usually smaller than those of the pansy.

Pansies and violas share a common ancestry. Greeks grew violas mostly for medicinal purposes as early as the fourth century B.C. A watchful gardener noticed that a particular viola flourished in sunny, alpine meadows. This strain of viola received the common name of wild pansy.

In the early 1800s, English nobleman Lord Gambier and his gardener, William Thompson, crossed species of the genus Viola. These crosses resulted in plants that produced larger flowers of unusual colors and color combinations.

History credits Thompson with the cross that resulted in the now-familiar Viola x wittrockiana. Its flowers burst with huge blocks of color or faces on the lower petals.

By the mid-1800s, Europeans had bred pansies and developed hybrids with greater plant vigor. The flowers of these hybrids had no dark blocks or lines. Thus, "clear" pansies got their start.

Popularity of the pansy skyrocketed in North America. A 19th-century seed catalog described pansy as "the most popular of all flowers grown from seed," with sales exceeding 100,000 packets a year.

breeders have produced pansies with new colors, including shades of pink, rose or orange, and flowers with unusual bicolor designs. Given pansy's enduring popularity, the improvement of this charming little plant is far from over, Trinklein said.

Most gardeners choose to plant pansies sold in bedding plant packs. Choose pest-free stocky plants with healthy leaves and unopened buds, he said.

Pansies enjoy cool weather and abundant sunshine. Unfortunately, in the Midwest this combination of conditions happens only in spring and fall.

For best results, Midwestern gardeners should choose an exposure of morning sun followed by afternoon shade, Trinklein said. Although pansy grows as an annual in Missouri, fall-planted pansies often survive winters and bloom in late winter or very early spring when temperatures rise.

Pansies have fine and delicate root systems. Plant them in porous soil enriched with organic matter to promote good soil aeration and proper water retention. Incorporate 3-4 inches of well-decomposed organic matter as a best management practice. Add pre-plant fertilizer as needed.

Space pansies about 6-10 inches apart and add 1-2 inches of water at the base of the plant. Do not allow soil to dry. Add water-soluble fertilizer as according to label directions.

Pansies grow relatively disease- and pest-free. Yellow leaves often indicate root rot, usually caused by overwatering. A white, powdery substance on leaves and stems indicates powdery mildew. Choose a location with good air circulation to prevent this.

Slugs and snails sometimes attack pansies. These nocturnal feeders produce gaping holes in the leaves. Control slugs and snails with poisonous baits.

"The lack of gardening activity during winter can be a bit depressive, especially to avid gardeners," Trinklein said. Because pansies can be planted very early, they bring an end to the winter doldrums. "Therefore, it might be concluded that pansies, with their cheerful, 'smiling' flowers, are as therapeutic for our inner being as they are beautiful to our eyes."
