

Libraries Are Here For You

In this time of social distancing, your library is proud to still serve you with a number of virtual offerings, including Hoopla, which is a service offering streaming of movies and TV shows (similar to Netflix, but offered free-of-charge) and the option to download eBooks and eAudiobooks.

Hoopla is a large collection of digital items that allows you to borrow movies, music, eAudiobooks, eBooks, comics and TV shows to enjoy on your computer, tablet, phone and TV.

To enjoy Hoopla, go to your app store and find "Hoopla Digital." Download it onto your device and open the app. Tap sign up, and provide your email address, confirm it and create a password at least 8 characters long. It will ask you for your library, and then your library card number.

If you have any problems, the number to call is provided for you on that screen. Next step is browsing for videos, music or books of your choice.

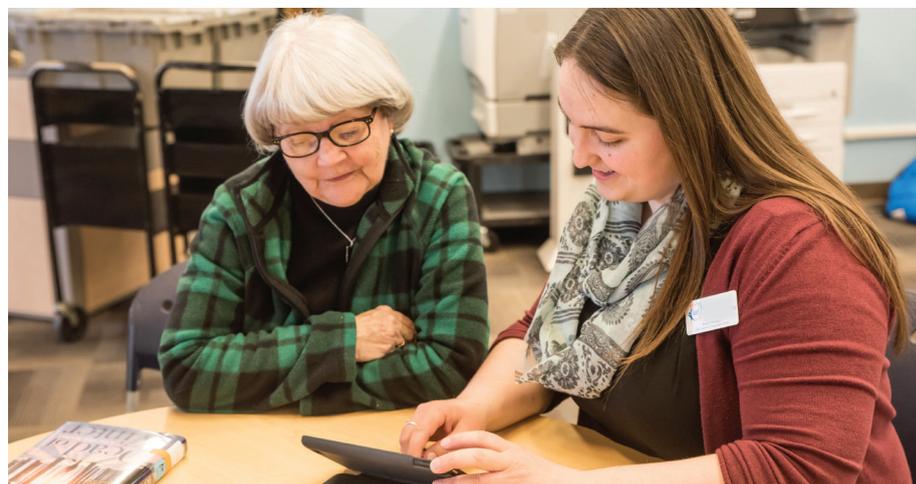

While Hoopla is a new service added, we still have favorites like OverDrive, which allows you to borrow eBooks and eAudiobooks from your library's digital library collection. Again, go to your app store and this time search for OverDrive. Download the app to your device, and open it. To set up an account, tap on "Sign Up," and then tap on "Sign up using library card."

You'll have to enter your library's name, and the next screen will have the search results. Just tap on your library, and you will be asked to enter your library card number, and tap on sign in. The last step is tapping on "Sign Up," and you are taken to OverDrive where you're being asked to "Add a library."

When you tap on the plus sign, and choose your library, you are taken to Lake Agassiz Regional Library's digital library where you can begin searching for an eBook or an eAudiobook.

Even though our world has been turned upside down, libraries are still here for you. Lake Agassiz Regional Library System has new ways for you to contact us, like Tidio chat and you can call or text the hotline at (833)522-5275.
