Fire Destroys Railway Station

New Building to be Erected at Once Will Probably Stand Nearer Lake Avenue

Considerable excitement was caused Thursday night when the Florida East Coast Railway station was burned to the ground. The first to discover the fire was Engineer Senior, of the electric light plant, who noticed the blaze about 11:30 p. m. and gave the alarm.

The fire department, which is of the volunteer order responded quickly, but the flames had made such headway that attempts to save the building were of no avail.

It is claimed by those who were on the spot shortly after it started that the flames first appeared in the freight house. The building, which is of frame construction has a freight shed at the south end, and this, coupled with the fact that a strong southeast wind was blowing explains the quick destruction which was so complete that only such metal as was used in constructing the building remained as evidence that a station once stood there.

The first station in Lake Worth was built in the summer of 1912 and enlarged in the fall of 1913. The station was of the non-agency class until November, 1913 when J. R. Keene took charge. Mr. Keene was followed by H. A. Stimson, who is the present agent. Mr. Stimson has been very active in his capacity of station agent and has done much to give the local station a clean record.

Although much freight is being received daily and the fire occurred in the midst of heavy passenger travel to this city the only losses recorded were one trunk and two small shipments of household goods containing six pieces altogether. The express on hand amounted to nothing as far ‘as business was concerned. Conditions like these are conclusive evidence that shipments to the local station whether freight or express are given immediate attention.

Information from R. G. Bullock, trainmaster, with headquarters in Miami, states that the new building will be erected and ready for occupancy in about one month. It will be similar in style and construction to the building which was destroyed. It is hoped that the railroad company will decide to locate the station some considerable distance nearer Lake avenue, and change the spur track which is now much of a disadvantage on account of its location.

The townspeople have been very proud of the station, which was much improved by the park built by the city on the railroad grounds. The old building was lighted with kerosene, but the new station will be wired for electricity.

As all records in the office were destroyed it required a few days to get back to a working basis, but no delays were occasioned in telegraph or money order service. The only cash lost was about $3 in small change, part of which has been recovered.

A refrigerator car standing on the siding near the station was burned beyond repair as were also two telegraph poles. The fire destroyed 11 telegraph circuits, two of which belonged to the railway company while the rest were the property of the Western Union. Telephone department trouble men of the railway were notified at Miami. Two men came the entire distance of 60 miles on a “gasoline speeder and had their circuits tested and’ in working order at 4 o’clock. The nine circuits of the Western Union were ready for commercial purposes at 8 a.m. It is service of this nature which ranks a company among the most progressive of modern corporations.

Business is now being handled from the temporary station without interruptions.

STAMP COLLECTING WITH DAN MADDALINO

In 1983, the United States Postal Service brought attention to our heroes through its commemorative stamp program. Titled Medal of Honor (Scott# 2045) this stamp shows the three medals awarded from three branches of the military: Army, Navy, and Air Force. The Medal of Honor is our nations’ highest military decoration that may be awarded to recognize American soldiers, sailors, and airmen who have distinguished themselves by acts of valor.

On December 9, 1861, President Abraham Lincoln signed into law the creation of the Navy Medal of Honor. Two months later, February 12, 1862, his signature created the Army version of this award. On April 14, 1965, the Medal of Honor specifically for airmen of the US Air Force was created. Prior to this distinguished members of the Air Force received the Army version of the medal.

A 2015 Medal of Honor prestige folio (Scott # 4982-4985) recognizes recipients of the award during the Vietnam War. The front and back of the folio picture 48 of the honorees living at the time the stamps were issued.

Collect these tributes to those Americans that have served above and beyond the call of duty, with many giving the ultimate sacrifice for our freedom.

You may also want to include the US stamps depicting the military Service Cross Medals (Scott# 5065-5068). These four stamps show the Army Distinguished Service Cross, the Navy Cross, the Air Force Cross, and the Coast Guard Cross. There are also several issues for the Purple Heart to collect.

Find the Medal of Honor postage stamps at your local Stamp Club.
