“ My years in FFA helped me gain self-confidence and leadership skills that helped me to be successful in college and later in my career.”

—Amy Beard

“ My years in FFA helped me gain necessary skills to be successful in farming as well as creating lifelong friendships and business contacts.”

—Robbie Beard

“ Through FFA, I was able to gain friendships and experiences that I wouldn't have made otherwise. I was able to be with that group of friends while learning about and advocating for the agriculture industry. We all had something in common and wanted to make sure that people understood what agriculture is.

Today, I am still in the agriculture industry. Even though I have raised and farmed many different things since high school, I now own and operate a beef cattle herd and have a hay production operation. I also farm with my brother and dad, and even though it is part of our livelihood, it's something impactful that we are able to do together.

My wife was a very active FFA Member at Taylor County High School and has now been teaching Agriculture Education for six years. She is now starting the ag program/ FFA Chapter at Campbellsville Independent Schools.

Agriculture and FFA have shaped both of us to be the people we are today. We will continue to advocate for agriculture and the importance it has in our world.”

—Ryan Arnett

2001-2005 GCHS FFA member, 2005 alumni
Maintenance Director at Campbellsville Nursing & Rehab

“ Bob Olt and Bill Lobb influenced me to develop a love for agriculture. I graduated with the class of 89 and earned a degree in Agriculture Education from WKU. As a result of FFA and the role models that both of them were to me, I am forever grateful they led me to my career path as a teacher of Agriculture and FFA advisor. God bless the two of them, they are truly role models to many in our community.”

—Shaun Murray

1989 GCHS alumni,
Agriculture teacher, FFA advisor, Hart County Schools,
Green County farmer

“ FFA was more than a club or an activity for me. It was a camaraderie of young men and women with the love of agriculture. Still today those of us that went through FFA together are still close today. FFA taught me responsibility and leadership skills that helped me through every path I've taken in life and I still use those skills today. Mr. Olt and Mr. Lobb were mentors in my life as were in many others. Through their leadership and career development I have succeeded.

FFA taught and give me so much that even today I still try to be involved in FFA. When I can I try to help Mr. Bonta in every way possible. I encourage everyone to give back and support your local FFA Chapter because they are a big part of our future and will be some of our leaders.”

— Ricky Arnett, 1991-98 GCHS FFA member,

'98 Tobacco Judging Contest winner,
Former employee of State Veterinarian Office, 10 years, currently employed by the University of Kentucky as the Green County Agricultural and Natural Resources Agent

“ FFA gave us both great qualities for future use! Drue and I both could say it helped us build relationships, think quick on our feet, work well with others, and to always be ready for a challenge. There's one time in particular that I remember when Drue convinced me to put on that blue jacket for the first time and Mr. Bonta asked me to compete in Floral Impromptu. Flowers...something I knew nothing about and that always seemed to die the moment I touched them; I was terrible at writing speeches and speaking in front of people wasn't my thing—much less on the spot and unprepared. Talk about a unforgettable learning experience. That is one day I'll carry with me forever. I met/spoke in front of new people, it was definitely a challenge, and thinking quick on my feet was without a doubt a requirement in that moment! Drue and I both use those qualities in our jobs and daily lives in general.”

—Majestee Hodges, Drue Hodges

Current Soil Conservationist
