Yes, Bednar said, "It was probably my best ever" performance, "especially on this big a stage."

Had to be. He allowed only one hit, a fourth inning single up the middle. That was one of only four fair balls the Longhorns managed off Bednar. The others were an infield pop up and two routine fly ball outs.

Meanwhile, Texas starter Ty Madden, a sure-fire firstround draft pick, pitched heroically in a losing effort. He went seven innings, allowing only four hits while striking out 10 and walking two. State got to him for two runs — all the Bulldogs would need in the fourth inning. Kamren James walked to lead off the inning and then took third on Luke Hancock's sharp single to right field. James later scored on Scotty Dubrule's sacrifice fly. And then Hancock scored on Brad Cumbest's wind-blown triple down the right field line. Texas did not score until the ninth, but that's when things got really hairy for State. Sims had retired all six Longhorns he faced in the seventh and eighth innings — five on strikeouts, one on an infield popup. In other words, he had been dominant. And then up stepped Mike Antico to lead off the ninth and he slammed a Sims fastball well over the fence in right centerfield. After Sims retired the next two batters, Ivan Melendez and Cam Williams both singled, putting runners at first and third. That's when Sims used a slider to get the last out on a grounder to second base. Appropriately, Bednar led the charge out of the State dugout to congratulate Sims. And so, on their third straight visit to Omaha, the Bulldogs won their CWS opener for the third straight time. That wasn't lost on State centerfielder Rowdey Jordan, who has been a key member of all three of those Bulldog teams.

"That's going to be something we talk about," Jordan said afterward. "We've come up short the other times. So I think you celebrate a little bit, but then you put it behind you and that's what we're going to tell younger guys: look, guys, we've been here, we didn't get it done, so let's keep playing good."

State played Tuesday at 6 p.m. against Virginia, which defeated Tennessee 6-0 earlier Sunday. The winner of that game will be in the driver's seat to advance to the best-two-of-three championship series.
