Being guided by the Bible, God's Word, Mt. Salus Christian School seeks to promote the intellectual and personal growth of our students through a quality Bible-based education, in order that they may impact and strengthen their community and the world.

Mt. Salus Christian School (MSCS) has been accredited by the MidSouth Association for Independent Schools (MAIS) for over forty years. In addition, through the MAIS, the school is Cognia/AdvancED (SACS) accredited. MSCS offers honors classes and dual-credit programs for college credit.

Mt. Salus offers a solid college preparatory program, along with other activities and athletics, including cross-country, basketball, soccer and track. Mt. Salus offers a small teacher to student ratio, and Mt. Salus' teachers average over fifteen years of experience.

MSCS faculty is committed to teaching each subject in light of the Bible and challenging each student to think critically and creatively. The school motto is "Educating children for life, not just graduation."

Head of School for Mt. Salus is Bill Maner. Dean of Students and counselor is Mary Kathryn Whittle, and administrative assistants are Kim Maner and Dana Phillips.

Mt. Salus Christian School, located at 1580 Clinton-Raymond Road, will hold its Back to School Night on August 12 at 6 p.m.

For more information, call the school at 601-924-5863 or visit www.MtSalus.org. The Head of School can be reached at bmaner@mtsalus.org.

At Mt. Salus, students are challenged in all areas, including academics, discipleship and leadership.

MSCS offers a STEM program (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math) for elementary grades 1-5. The STEM program meets once a week to further enhance the development of a student's potential and education through a hands-on approach.

Mt. Salus strives to prepare students for college and the future work force by incorporating technology into their curriculum. Kindergarten through eighth grade have access to Apple iPads for use in technology class and specials.

Students can anticipate challenging academic classes, continuing in the Mt. Salus tradition, which has led many students to achieve high scores on the ACT, PSAT and SAT. STAR students each year have received scholarships to schools of their choice.

Faculty and current families often refer to Mt. Salus as a family, as there is a spirit of shared pride in each individual's success. The school strives to celebrate and promote growth of each student's God-given talents and abilities.

Student life is an integral part of the Mt. Salus experience. Students and faculty participate together in activities ranging from weekly chapel to field trips, academic bees, service projects, athletic events, student government and musical productions.

My grandparents arrived in the US as children from Europe in the early years of the 20 th Century; they and their parents learned English, became US citizens and successfully embraced the Principles and Freedoms that defines the United States. As proud Americans they improved the prosperity of their own families and of this Country.
