

Gould enters fifth season as Tide head coach

By Steven Slack

Holly Gould enters her fifth season as Edgerton girls soccer head coach with a continued philosophy of growth and community in her program.

Gould comes to the Tide after having coached in Stillman Valley, Ill., and then Janesville Craig High School, where she coached both girls and boys soccer.

The fifth-year coach played high school soccer in Englewood, Colo., before attending Monmouth College in Ill. Monmouth did not have a women's program but she would earn a spot on the men's team there.

Gould would go on to found a women's club team at Monmouth in the early 90s.

That experience may be one of the reasons Gould's girls soccer team always works closely with the Edgerton boys soccer team.

"We do a lot together, we support each other, we have a couple of coaches who coach both ways," Gould said. "It's natural to us, but I don't think it's normal in other sports."

In addition to her bachelor's degree from Monmouth, Gould earned a master's degree from National Louis University in Chicago. She teaches math at Edgerton High School.

The Monmouth alum is married to Edgerton cross country coach Adam Gould, who assists her during soccer season. Holly helps out with middle school cross country in the fall.

Gould has two daughters, Cammi and Lizzy. Lizzy is an EHS junior on the soccer team, and Cammi is currently attending Luther College in Iowa.

Coach Profile: Terry Dickinson, Boy's Golf

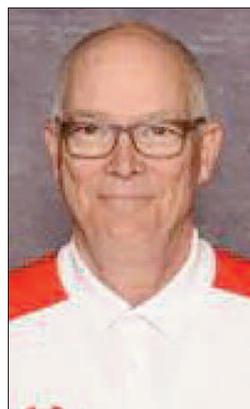

By Jack McLaughlin

Terry Dickinson had his work cut out for him. Before stepping in as head coach of the Edgerton High School boy's golf team, the group had won three consecutive Rock Valley Conference championships.

Today, after five years under Dickson's guidance, the team has won an eye-popping eight consecutive conference championships. What's more, they haven't lost a conference match in four years.

Even more, Dickinson's teams have competed in the previous two division 2 state tournaments, in 2018 and 2019 (there was no tournament in 2020). In 2019, the Tiders managed to claim third place overall in the state tournament, with golfer Joe Forsting even claiming first place on the individual level.

An avid golfer himself, Dickinson is also quick to distribute praise to his trusted core of assistant coaches.

"My assistant is Mike Schmidt, and Bob Albrecht is our volunteer assistant. The three coaches make up a strong team that collectively work hard to improve the students as golfers as well as young men," he said.

And with this season being likely the strangest he's encountered yet, he'll likely have to adapt. But that's not something he's opposed to, either.

"It is a little complicated with the overlapping season of fall and spring sports, but the coaches of impacted sports, under the direction of the Athletic Director, have worked schedules out for the benefits of each sport and the student athletes," he said.

Dickinson has shown he's capable of conquering competition at all levels, and this year he'll go against a pandemic as well. But this year as well, it's hard to imagine this Tiders team not rolling over both.

Nuenthel brings his personal legacy to tennis

By Steven Slack

Eric Nuenthel has been coaching Edgerton boys tennis since 1996 and girls tennis since 2002. In that time, Nuenthel has had 18 state qualifiers for the boys team.

A 1976 Edgerton High School graduate, Nuenthel qualified for state as a senior No.2 doubles player. He was part of the first Crimson Tide team to ever earn a place at the State Tournament.

Nuenthel also played tennis during his career in the United States Army and earned the honor of "All-Post" at the Scholfield Barracks in Hawaii.

"I do not worry about wins or losses," Nuenthel wrote about his coaching philosophy. "As long as the player puts forth an effort, plays well and has fun."

Nuenthel is married to his high school sweetheart Cheryl and has two children, Christopher and Ellen.
