

Ebenezer Free Lutheran Church offers community outreach

God created Ebenezer Free Lutheran Church, by way of three determined couples with such a strong faith that they started worship services as a home mission congregation with the Association of Free Lutheran Congregations. The church actually began in the home of one of those founding couples. The church was founded in September 2003, with the help of members from the AFLC Home Missions team. Joyfully, on Martin Luther's birthday 2003, a facility in Humboldt, Tenn. was purchased by one of the founding couples, and the first worship service, although a temporary setting, was held in it exactly three months after the congregation was started. This is only a small piece of representation of some of the history of Ebenezer Free Lutheran Church in Humboldt.

Renovations continued on the facility in 2005. Bible study groups were being formed around this time as well. Two new outreach mission projects were started that provided free clothing to those in need through "The Clothes Closet" for residents at the Humboldt Veterans Home.

Ebenezer has offered some community

Ebenezer Free Lutheran Church

outreach opportunities that have included ice cream social, memory improvement seminar, yard sales and stew sales. Some of their continuing community activities are with the Humboldt Senior Center and weekly visits to Bailey Park Community Living Center.

Ebenezer Free Lutheran Church continues to have fellowship activities and events such as a fellowship meals after every service, game night on the third Friday every month, monthly adult bible studies, weekly bible studies on Sundays and Tuesdays, along with special holiday festivities and member celebrations. They encourage visitors not to run off after church and invite them instead to stay and fill up on some of the best food in West Tennessee.
