Every destination has something interesting about it, but sometimes we can't see the forest for the trees, and the attractions in our own neck of the woods go unnoticed, even people travel from afar to see what KY is all about.

Kentucky is a treasure trove of fun, fascinating, beautiful and quirky things to see and do. With gas nearly $5 a gallon, you may be asking yourself what a staycation could offer.

Here are a few gems waiting for you right outside your back door...

1. Mammoth Cave National Park is an internationally applauded destination only a few minutes away that offers history, adventure, exercise and stunning views. If you've already done the cave tour, take advantage of numerous hiking, biking and paddle trails. If you want to get your children interested in more time in nature, encourage them to keep a journal of birds, trees or wildflower.

2. The Corvette Museum is a great place for anyone of any age. It offers something for everyone and celebrates Kentucky's favorite car.

3. Did you know that if you want to "sleep in a wigwam" Cave City is one of only two places in America that offer this fun, quirky experience? The other is over 1,700 miles away in San Bernardino, CA.

4. The Louisville Slugger Museum and Factory is an all-American day trip for anyone who loves them all-American sport. It celebrates Kentucky and American Heritage.

5. Bernheim Forest is a place worth spending a whole day. This lovely location combines nature, art and plenty of places for photographers, bird watchers and plant enthusiasts.

In addition to these destinations and others, our region offers miles and miles of paddle trails, fishing, biking, hiking, music and unique dining. The possibilities are countless, and summer is the perfect time to see what KY has to offer. Discover why others make it a destination.
