Cow Days '22

Green County Food Pantry Director Jan George receives a symbolic check for $1,000 that was presented by John Spalding. The money was from the proceeds of a raffle and a donation by Alex R. White Lawyers PLLC. An equal amount was sent to the Eastern Ky Flood Relief.

All business-- the parade was filled with youth on a mission!

Samantha Buchanan painted faces in her son Grayson's booth at Cow Days. Grayson is a Fall Festival candidate at Green County Primary School and proceeds from his booth will go towards his campaign.

A Dolly Parton display on Main Street to promote the Imagination Library drew a lot of attention during the Greensburg Rotary Club's 49th Cow Days fall festival September 16-17. Justine Landrum, Rotary President, center, is holding promotional material and Shelley Pruitt, Director of the Green County Public Library, displays some of the free books Green County children are now receiving. The Rotary Club and the library are working together to provide a free book a month to all Green County children from birth to age five. Dolly's Imagination Library estimates there are approximately 600 children in Green County who are eligible. Currently 228 are receiving a book a month. Parents of eligible kids are urged to stop by the library on Court Street, visit the website gcpl.info or call 270-932-7081.
