On Wednesday before the third Sunday, Goldia Land-fair swallowed a fish bone. She went to a hospital in Jackson after the hospital in Lexington couldn't get it out. One of the hospitals in Jackson scheduled her to come back on Monday after the third Sunday. But third Sunday morning, the bone came up. Goldia believes in praying. I said Goldia prayed the bone up.

One of Mrs. Jean Holmes-Jefferson's sisters passed, Rose Redmond. It's the one that worked in Cohen's Department Store years ago. Keep the family uplifted in prayer.

Earcene Sample's brother Victor passed. He used to work around the Sheriff's Department. On Tuesday, June 21st, he came over to the Multi-Purpose Building and helped to put out the chairs for the Mayor's Health Council Meeting. The next night he passed. Keep the family uplifted in prayer. Mrs. Louise Apple-white and some of her family members went to Chicago to her sister's funeral.

The Mayor's Health Council Meeting was held at the Multi-Purpose Building on Tuesday, June 21st. The presenters came from the Mississippi Delta Health Council Department. They discussed blood pressure screening. Mayor Robin McCrory was at the meeting. Mrs. Geraldine Sturgis, the Durant Health Council director, was at the meeting.

The food pantry is appreciated for giving out food boxes last week.

Mrs. Jean Holmes-Jefferson finally retired from carrying insurance, now she can work in her boutique.

Don't forget the Farmers' Market is open every Friday morning in front of the old WIC building in Lexington.
