

Fall Fest T-shirts

Obion County Public Library assistant director Beth Micke and director Carolina Conner

Obion County Fall Fest is about celebrating the harvest season and that is clearly seen in the new logo for the annual festival that's been here for 30 years.

The new logo takes center stage on this year's gray T-shirts, which continue to highlight a listing of the donors who guarantee the annual celebration happens on the back.

This year's T-shirts are available in adult small to extra large for $22 each. They may be purchased at the Obion County Public Library and will also be on sale at Fall Fest Family Day on Oct. 8, if any remain. The distinctive shirts are a wonderful reminder of the fun shared from year to year at the event.

Musically talented residents in the Obion County area are being offered the opportunity to win $1,000 in the Fall Fest Idol competition.

Two preliminary rounds are being held in order for participants to qualify for the big singing concert at Fall Fest Family Day on Oct. 8 from noon-2 p.m. at the Obion County Public Library. They include:

- Oct. 4 at Hops and Barley at 7 p.m.
- Oct. 6 at Bricks and Brews at 7 p.m.

Top scoring contestants from each preliminary will have the opportunity to compete in the Fall Fest Idol competition. There is no fee to participate in the preliminaries, but contestants will need to pay a $25 non-refundable application fee for the finales. Those fees will be donated to the backpack programs in the Union City and Obion County school systems.

The first-place prize is $1,000, with second place being $350 and third place $100.
