mound but struggled against the Blue Devil's bats. Elbert County leapt to an early lead, scoring seven runs at the top of the first inning. Shedd was relieved by Cofer, who managed to drag the Tigers to the offensive. Cold bats came from the dugout however, as Hunter Price, Desmond Cofer, and Nathan Durham were struck or thrown out in succession. The top of the second inning seemed a continuation of the first. Cofer held his own against the Blue Devils, but was relieved when he wearied by Mason Wheatley. Wheatley battled hard, ushering the Tigers to the bottom of the second inning, but Elbert County had extended their lead to 13-0. Back on the offense, the Tigers bats began to warm up. With several runners on base, it was not until Robert Hunt stole home plate in a daring display awareness and cunning that a run was scored. The score seemed to begin a Tiger rally, but time was not on their side. Ebert County again advanced their lead at the top of the third, leading 17-1 by the bottom of the third. As hope began to glimmer for the Tigers, two strikeouts and a tagout cost them the game.

Safe? That was the question everyone was asking when third baseman Mason Wheatly and an Elbert County player tied in their race to the bag.

Lady Tiger tennis team beat Thomson Bulldogs 4-1

In Washington-Wilkes's tennis matches against Thomson, the Tigers girls' tennis teams triumphed over the McDuffie County Bulldogs 5-0. Last week, the team also beat Harlem 4-1 in their away game March 3, but lost to Elbert County in their March 1 match.
