

West Hardin

Continued from previous page

New Interventionist
George Ann Barker

as she is called by our students, has worked in many different capacities over the years including admissions counselor with TCAT in Crump, REDI College Access program with HCHS, school counselor at Wayne County High School, Career and Technical Education teacher at HCMS, and now an elementary school guidance counselor for West Hardin. She has a Master of Public Administration from Western Kentucky University and a Master of Sci-

New School Nurse Jordan
Johnson

The faculty of West Hardin Elementary School are looking forward to a great school year!

West Hardin Elementary students all dressed up in costumes and enjoying the school's Spooky Reading Night.

ence in Education, with School Counseling Emphasis from the University of Tennessee at Martin. Jenny is married to her husband Shawn, and they have three sons, Adam, Garrett and Grayson. She says, "My goal for this year is to ensure that our students will have all of the support they need to grow both emotionally and academically. West Hardin is home to some amazing educators who go above and beyond every day for our school community and its students! Together with our student families, I hope to collaborate and help the children acquire the academic, career and personal/social skills that they need to reach their fullest potential. At West Hardin Elementary, we want all of our students to grow into successful lives as healthy, responsible, and productive citizens who respect themselves and others. I am so excited to be at West Hardin this year and to play a role in each student's development.

• New Interventionist George Ann Barker

George Ann Barker is a new interventionist at West Hardin. George Ann has previously worked as an aide in the Special Education Department for nine years. She is married to T.J. Barker and together they have six children, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild. George Ann is excited about returning to the school system and working at West Hardin in intervention.

• New School Nurse Jordan Johnson

Our new school nurse this year is Jordan Johnson. She is married to Robert, and they have three children, Malachi, Rozalynn and Finn. Nurse Jordan obtained her Bachelor of Nursing Degree from Union University. Her previous nursing experience has been primarily in the hospital setting spending almost eight years in the surgery department. Johnson says, "I've always had a soft spot for children and am so excited about starting this new journey. I look forward to seeing what this year at West Hardin holds for me."