Just north of Mustang city limits is about to be offering Mustang residents with tons of new business close to town.

That is thanks to the efforts of the Brookstone Village development on Mustang Road, which has been the center of attention for the past year as plenty of construction takes place around 29th street and Mustang Road.

Caleb Hill, the developer from PrecorRuffin, also mentioned the three retail buildings have interested parties planning to move in as well. That includes a pending Boba Tea lease, a sandwich shop considering one of the shops in the northernmost structure of the three, a fitness operator and a to-go pizza concept that have not been named as of yet.

As for the confirmed businesses, Hill mentioned the plans for opening all line up relatively smoothly with each other.

“These are all finalized and they’ll be remodeling or constructing the interiors of their suites,” Hill said. “Probably in the next 30 days they’ll start. My guess is they’ll open the first of the year. So, January or Feb-
