ASK Dr. Angelia Blessed Beyond Measure

Attending the Kentucky Counseling Association Annual Conference in Louisville is the most affirming event every year, for 30 years now. From arrival to the end, former students and dear friends hugged and loved me - Blessed Beyond Measure!

In 2001, the Lindsey Wilson College Counseling programs went to Eastern Kentucky. I taught in London, Jackson, Hazard, Cumberland, Prestonsburg, and Ashland. Those former students are now leading professionals in the counseling field. I love to hear their success stories and how grateful they are that we came to eastern Kentucky, so they had the opportunity for education and a different life. With that opportunity, they have achieved great things.

A counselor from Prestonsburg called out, “Dr. Bryant”, and came over to me. She related the story of working in a coal mine and heard a radio advertisement that the counseling programs were coming. She said she went the register, and her first class was with me. “After that class, I knew I could do this” and stated she would forever be grateful “because I would still be working in that coal mine if you hadn’t come (knowing her, she would have done something else).”

Teaching in eastern Kentucky was a time of sacrifice because while teaching on the Columbia campus during the week, driving to and teaching in eastern Kentucky on weekends. That is why we teach – to change lives. How affirming!

I am fortunate to have had the opportunity to touch so many lives for 20 years. The conference Opening Speaker was introducing me as the person that gave him his first teaching opportunity. In your mind, you remember all this happened, yet when others remember, it’s so affirming to be reminded how it affected the lives of so many.

As I reach the closing years of this career, I am ever so grateful for the time I have served caring for so many. Whatever you do to love and guide people in this life, comes back to you in abundance. I am humbled and blessed beyond measure.

Remember my Friends and Readers, embrace these Words, Philippians 2:3-4, “Do nothing from selfish ambition or conceit, but in humility count others more significant than yourselves. Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others”.

Love God and All People.
