

Career Fair Field Trip Days

Otter Tail Power server room presentation.

By Mason Kadel and Justin Kugler

On April 14 and 25, the Rothsay senior class went on career field trips to three different businesses. For the 14th, the first business we stopped at was Everts Lumber. They showed us their lumberyard and all the programming they do for building houses.

I asked one of the seniors how they thought about Everts Lumber. Hayden Emery said, "I thought it was interesting to learn about everything that goes into designing a house and making a blueprint from scratch."

The second place we went to was Arvig. They showed us the place where they do all the idea-making and where they do computer work. Then, we went to the building where they have all their big equipment for laying lines. Peyton Christensen said, "Going to Arvig was a fun experience. They had a huge cafeteria and a game room. We also got to look at all the big equipment they use to bore and move dirt."

On April 25, the students learned about information technology (IT). The seniors headed to Otter Tail Power in Fergus Falls to learn about IT. While in OtterTail, the senior class listened to lectures and toured their facility. One of the Otter Tail Power workers and lecturer was Chris Heier who shared information about his job and advice for those graduating high school. Following the Otter Tail Power visit the seniors then proceeded to lunch in Perham at Pizza Ranch.

After lunch, the senior class went to Arvig where they were split up into three different groups covering things such as cyber security. As someone who had a lot of interest in IT, Jeremy Rasmussen said, "It was cool, I learned a lot about IT and now I know what I want to do."

Katie Reber said, "going to the career fair was very informative and opened my eyes to a nice career field."

Careers teacher, Mrs. Sletten said, "These career field trips were a great experience for all the seniors to be able to get out and see all the different types of jobs there are. Having them actually get out and see them in person can help the students make decisions on what they want to do with their life."

The Start Of Tiger Golf

By Mason Kadel

This season has been hard to start with the weather being cold. Pushing tournaments just to be pushed back again. The golf team has been practicing inside on a simulator for the beginning of the season. They have had two tournaments. One was at Balmoral and the other was at Tipsanah. Karter Jensen said, "I think that we will do really well this year because we have a lot of returning golfers."

This season there are three seniors: Karter Jensen, Mason Kadel and Hayden Emery. Jensen and Kadel are both returning golfers, adding Hayden Emery to the team. There are two juniors on the team: Carson Weiers and Conrad Stockinger. We also have an 8th grader playing on varsity: Levi Kuntz. Conrad Stockinger said, "There's been some ups and downs, but the team as a whole is improving at the game." The team has subsections in 3 weeks. Coach Sletten also said, "We have a strong group of leaders on our varsity boys and girls teams who are committed to be playing their best gold by subsections in 3 weeks." The junior varsity team consists of 8th grader Emmitt Curtis, and 7th graders Memphis Sletten and Hunter Martin.
