SOLD TO BUYER NUMBER... A great Friday night crowd was on hand to bid, eat, enjoy the petting zoo, and other children's activities including pony and train rides at the 61st Arthur Mennonite Relief Sale despite the above average temperature. Auctioneer Owen Gingerich was just starting the quilt auction in this picture as nine beautiful quilts were in the first of two lots on the evening. One of the many handmade quilts brought $1,400 while others sold ranging from $200 to $775 and one of the bedroom suits brought $5,000. The total amount grossed from the auction and associated events was $103,500 this year, which was just slightly up over last year. Eighty percent of the proceeds goes to the Mennonite Central Committee and the remaining 20 percent is distributed among the supporting Mennonite, Beachy, and Amish churches along with other local outreaches. The annual event is held at the Otto Center and draws hundreds of people from all over Illinois and surrounding states besides many local and area residents.
