Tuscola Community High School open house

THE LIBRARY has received a complete overhaul with new shelving, flooring and furniture. The southern wall, previously glass, has been turned into a wall to separate the library from the study hall. Photo by Dominik Stallings.

EVERY CLASSROOM is currently equipped with a mobile air conditioning unit until the original models arrive and are installed. Classrooms now come with new storage, providing educators with enough storage space for class. The art room, located on the west side of the school's northern wing has enough space for regular class as well as rolling high tables, which are not pictured. Photo by Dominik Stallings.

THE STUDYHALL, just past the library, now features new "focus rooms" which are private rooms with new glass white-boards and electronic boards to plug into. Students can work on projects or take tests in the rooms. Photo by Dominik Stallings.

STUDENTS WITH INJURIES OR DISABILITIES will now be able to use a chairlift to access the high school's second floor. Entire classrooms had to be previously moved to accommodate students. New bathrooms now also have handwave sensors, to allow easier access. Photo by Dominik Stallings.

TUSCOLA ATHLETES have brand-new lockers in each locker room. Football players have 60 new lockers in which they can hang coats, store equipment and secure personal belongings. The epoxy floor has been redone with a speckled black, white, yellow and gray epoxy finish. Photo by Dominik Stallings.
