

Feeling Strong? Try Out This Contest . . .

The Nick Manston Strongman Competition event becomes more popular every year. Each contestant will have three chances to throw a 100-pound sack of potatoes as high as possible.

Again, this year will include combination age categories: 14-18 and 65+. Contestants that fall into these brackets will compete having three chances to throw a 50-pound sack of potatoes as high as possible.

Participants 18 and younger will have to sign a waiver that will be available at the Souvenir Shop during the Festival.

There are prizes for the winners. The Strongman Contest runs from 11 - 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 24, downtown on Front Street, just after the Sewing and Stacking Contest.

Remembering Nick Manston

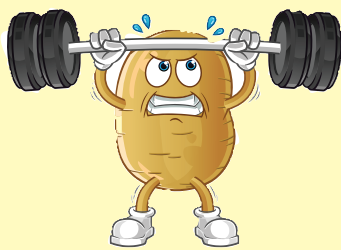

Nick Manston is shown competing in the Strong Man Competition in 2003. Nick always put on a good show and had a large audience cheering for him. Manston won the contest in 1999 and again in 2002. Following his unexpected death just a couple years after this picture, the contest was renamed as a memorial event in his honor.
