THE POD REPORT

By Dana Block

THIS WEEK'S CATEGORY: Car Enthusiasts

Whether your hobby is collecting cars, or you're simply looking for a practical vehicle to get you from point A to point B, these five podcasts are the most recommended on Reddit by gearheads and motorheads alike:

"THIS CAR POD!"

With Doug DeMuro & Friends!

Automotive expert and former AutoTrader.com blogger Doug DeMuro has over 4 million subscribers on his YouTube channel. His followers also can't get enough of his podcast where he shares his insights on topics like how tariffs are impacting the auto industry and halting imports. He asks if Tesla still needs Elon Musk, if Ferrari is heading toward failure, and why all EVs (electric vehicles) look the same. He also turns the spotlight on himself and asks if YouTubers are controlling car values, among other things. (Sites.Libsyn.com)

"The Smoking Tire"

Hosts Matt Farah and Zack Klapman welcome a wide array of guests like automotive icons, pro drivers and comedians who all discuss the car industry, racing, and their love of four-wheeled vehicles. Guests include Jerry Seinfeld and Jay Leno, who are well-known for their massive car collections. You can also search their library of episodes for their reviews of various automobiles (including older ones about the Cybertruck) and learn which muscle cars make their top-5 list. (TheSmokingTire.com)

"The Carmudgeon Show"

Hosts Jason Cammisa and Derek Tam-Scott prove that "you don't have to be old to be grumpy" as they spend each episode discussing "what's wrong with various parts of the automotive universe." Fortunately, there are plenty of laughs in between their grumbling. One host has a master's degree in law and the other has a master's in civil engineering. Recent episodes include "What Tariffs Mean for Old Cars," "Crowning the Hatchback King," and "The Toyota Land Cruiser's Complicated Past." Things also get hilariously personal in a special episode from February where they roast each other's cars. (Sites.Libsyn.com)

Don't Forget These Gems

"The Best of Car Talk" - You can still listen to America's favorite car guys via NPR's podcast containing their greatest hits. Brothers Tom and Ray Magliozzi were known as "Click and Clack, the Tappet Brothers" during their call-in radio show that aired from 1977-2012. Their expertise in solving your car mechanical issues, combined with their sense of humor, is still relevant and, best of all, entertaining today (although you might shed a tear when they mention sticker prices that were actually affordable and not overly inflated). (CarTalk.com)

"Everyday Driver Car Debate"

Hosts Paul Schmucker and Todd Deeken are experts behind the mic, helping their listeners find the right car for their needs. Recent episodes walk you through the dreaded car-buying process, saving for your dream car, and which car manufacturer is "losing more money than anticipated." (EverydayDriver.com)
