Ring in a New Chapter

OceanaGold reached an exciting milestone on April 7, 2026, by officially listing on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE).

While the listing marked an important step forward for the Company's growth and visibility with investors, it was also a moment of pride felt right here at Haile Gold Mine and across the surrounding community. The move is expected to strengthen OceanaGold's position as a global gold producer while increasing opportunities for investment and long-term success.

OceanaGold now trades under the ticker symbol NYSE: OGC and, with this addition, became a dual-listed company, continuing its presence on the Toronto Stock Exchange (TSX) as well.

To celebrate the occasion, OceanaGold invited one employee from each of its mine sites to attend the opening bell ceremony in New York. Representing Haile Gold Mine was Surface Mine Operations Manager Emily Stephens, who had the opportunity to take part in this special moment alongside team members from across the Company. Celebrations were held across all sites to commemorate the milestone.

Employee recognized for life-saving act

In February, Gerard Bond, President and CEO of OceanaGold, visited the Haile Gold Mine to recognize employees who exemplify the Company's core values.

During his visit, Driller Cheyenne Taubert was awarded the Living Our Values Award for Care and presented with a commemorative gold coin for stepping in to provide potentially life-saving assistance to a co-worker in need before the Mine Emergency Response Team arrived. Her quick response and willingness to act in a critical moment reflected a strong commitment to the safety and well-being of others.

Two additional employees were also recognized as runners-up: Rodney Cauthen for Respect and Ashley Theurer for Teamwork.

Each year, OceanaGold honors employees across its operations who demonstrate its values of Care, Respect, Integrity, Performance, and Teamwork—highlighting the people who make a difference every day.
