Holbrook, Gaul named Jones homecoming royalty

By John Martin
Staff Writer

Seniors Jentry Holbrook and Cohen Gaul were honored as Jones Longhorns Basketball Homecoming Queen and King during the Harrah-Jones game.

In a recent edition of the Choctaw Times, Skyler Carpenter was listed as the Homecoming King. The Times regrets the error.

Carpenter was Holbrook's escort onto the ceremony and Gaul escorted Madeline Theissen. The group was photographed prior to the announcement of the winners.

After the announcement, Carpenter and Gaul traded places in the lineup and another photo was made showing King Cohen and Queen Holbrook.

Holbrook is the daughter of Eli and Jenny Holbrook and participates in basketball and the National Honor Society. She is Salutatorian of her class and Captain of the basketball team. She plans to attend OBU.

New social sports hub MMTH Fieldhouse breaks ground

MMTH (pronounced Mammoth) Fieldhouse broke ground last week in Oklahoma City. The event took place on the future Fieldhouse lot, located in the Half Development near Wilshire Ave and Broadway Extension.

At Fieldhouse, having fun is a team sport and everyone is an athlete. The social competition destination is slated to open later this year and will feature three putt-putt courses, baseball and basketball simulators, a wiffle ball field, pickleball courts and a playground. With elevated food and beverage options, Fieldhouse will offer community, camaraderie and a healthy dose of competition for all ages.

Community members, local organizations, and neighbors were in attendance. Officials from the Greater Oklahoma City Chamber and Oklahoma State Department of Commerce brandished shovels to officially break ground at the anticipated new site.
