

"My sister, Mackenzie Simons, was my biggest inspiration through out all of my school years," said Audrey Simons. "I always looked up to her as she is a hard worker, and when she puts her mind to completing something she will overcome it. She's always had good grades, which I have always struggled to do, but having someone that is a great model in my life is the biggest blessing. Even after high school I will continue looking up to her as she has accomplished so much in her life, and I couldn't be more proud to call her my sister."

"My biggest inspiration during high school is my parents. I am who I am today because of them. They have always been there for me, giving me advice when I need it, and they always show up to support me and help me get through stressful moments," Elly Zimmerly said.

Mason Rickle said, "Hearing this Bible verse (Joshua 1:9): 'Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous. Do not be terrified; do not be discouraged, for the Lord your God will be with you wherever you go.'"

"My biggest inspiration during high school is my cousin Becca," said Jazmin Zink. "Her confidence and unapologetic attitude inspire me to face my fears, overcome my anxiety, and take charge of my life. My parents have always been a constant and are also a huge inspiration as well. They motivate me to make them proud and show them the future I will create for myself."

"My family was my biggest inspiration during high school," Kensey Korody said. "This is because they pushed me to do my hardest in school. They've shown me how to prepare myself for life after high school every day as well. My siblings moved out and have shown me what that's like and I'm excited to start my journey. I can't wait to see what my future holds and all the journeys I get to go on!"

Autumn Bouillon answered, "My biggest inspiration was my parents, because they taught me how to work hard and still find the fun in life, even when it can be boring and stressful. They showed me how much the little things in life matter and I will always be very grateful for that. Love you, Mom and Dad!"

Tylinn Stoll said, "Mrs. Speer and Ms. Martin were my biggest inspirations during high school. They both encouraged me to always challenge myself, supported me through hard days, believed in my own potential, and showed me the value of hard work."

"My biggest inspiration during high school has been my parents. Through all my different clubs and sports, they were always there to support me. They moved around their schedules to be able to make it to my things; they never let me be somewhere without support. They provided anything I needed, from all the gear and equipment to the unwavering support. Still now as I am preparing to graduate and attend college, they are helping me through it all, attending my college visits, helping with scholarships, and giving me all the support I need to be able to take my next step," said Lydia Black.

"My close friends were my biggest inspiration during high school because they always encouraged me to keep going with anything if I wanted to give up. I wouldn't have gotten through these years without them," Caidence Fleece said.

"My dad," said Adam Collet. "He got me through it."

"I am most inspired by my parents; their hard work and dedication provided the foundation for who I am today. Beyond their support, I am deeply grateful to Mrs. Hohman, who mentored me through difficult moments and taught me invaluable skills that I carry with me," Audrey Motter said.

Vinny Nickerson said, "Honestly my instrument, my baby if you will, my alto saxophone was the reason I was even semi-sane throughout high school. Although from what I hear from music ed students in college their instrument drives them insane so I might be cooked."

"My biggest inspirations would have to be my siblings," said Presley Hartley. "They showed me how to become what I needed to be and helped me become who I am."

"My biggest inspiration during high school was my dad. My dad always made sure to let me know who I am as a person and that I can do great things if I put the effort in. He always pushed me to be the best person I could possibly be," said Dawsyn Ritter.

"The person who has been the biggest inspiration to my life throughout high school and preparing for college is my dad," Lane Hill said. "He has sacrificed so much to provide me the best life I could imagine. He has given me many amazing opportunities that have made me the person I am today, and has inspired me to take the paths I have chosen. I can't imagine going through these past few years without the support and inspiration from my mom and dad. I love you guys."
