

Now what?

Many grads will join the workforce or attend college

Going to college, joining the workforce, traveling and starting a family are among the plans seniors have made for after graduation.

"I plan on attending the University of Findlay for physical therapy," Carter Bame said.

"I will be attending Heidelberg University in the fall of 2026," said Lydia Black. "I will major in criminology and psychology with a minor in sociology to achieve my bachelor's degree. After college I will attend a police academy for my police officer training. Once I complete all my schooling and training I want to work my way to become a homicide detective."

Miley Bloom said, "My plans for the future are to go to the University of Findlay and then graduate with a degree in early childhood teaching. Once I complete college I want to get married and start a family."

Austin Boes expects to go "straight into the work force."

Autumn Bouillon said, "I plan to go to college to obtain a degree in animal science. I plan to attend either Ohio State ATI or the University of Findlay."

"I am majoring in business finance at Marion Technical College," said Emily Brodman.

Jessica Chamberlain said, "Family."

Adam Collet intends to "go straight into the work force."

"I hope to become a photographer in the future," said Caidence Fleece.

Ray Gerschutz plans to go to the University of Findlay to major in computer science.

"I will attend the University of Findlay for their pre-vet program. It is a four-year plan where I will learn everything needed to become a doctor for animals. I am really excited about working with large animals like horses, cows, and sheep, which I can start doing right away in my first year at their large animal farm. After I finish these four years, I plan to go to vet school to get my degree to become a licensed veterinarian," said Kaylee Hall.
