

What was your favorite?

Seniors name their favorite classes

We asked Mohawk's graduating seniors what their favorite subject was and why. The answers varied, but they were topped by English, math and history. Here are the answers.

Carter Perry said, "My favorite subject in high school was financial literacy because it helped me to prepare for the real world."

Aurora Harper chose English "because I love to write and getting the chance to read different types of books."

"My favorite subject was definitely contemporary music," said Faith Zender. "I learned about something I actually enjoyed and was never bored with Mrs. Hord."

"History was my favorite because we didn't do anything in there," said Collin Eader.

Kennedy Bowlin said, "My favorite subject in high school was English because I enjoy to read and plus it's something you need to comprehend for all of your other core subjects as well."

"Mechanical principals teaches you real life lessons," Gage Swartz explained his favorite.

"My favorite subject is band because I love being able to play the flute and make music," Elizabeth Rhoads said.

"Math," said Liam Pursell. "It just came easy to me."

Ana-Jean Detterman also chose math. "It always has come easy to me," she said because she "could go to class and not have to worry."

Mason Schimpf liked "financial literacy because it has direct impacts to the real world."

"My favorite subject was physical science because of Mr. Graham," said Troy Johnson.

Brady Coffman enjoyed English language arts "because Mrs. Stansbery."

"Art and choir," said Kasidi Reis-Kelly, "because choir was always fun and Mr. Price never pushes anyone to audition for something that they aren't comfortable with and overall loved how everyone got along." In art class, she said, "I got to be creative and design things I loved so everyone's work was unique."

"Study halls were the best. I didn't have to do anything," John Stansbery said.

Brendan Tackett said his favorite "was probably math because I like dealing with numbers."

"English," said Zoey Kessler. "I have always enjoyed writing."

"One of my favorite things to do is to learn about the past," Cameron Hufford explained why he enjoyed history.

"Financial literacy because you learn about useful things in life," Brant Kirian said.

"Chemistry," said Biz Klopp, "it was fun."

Cole Leeth said, "History because I have always enjoyed learning about the past and historical events."

"Science," Kristin Dyer said. "It's the most hands-on and you always learn something new."

"English," said David Hofert. "I'm really good with words. I can write an essay in 10 minutes easily."

Elise Meyer chose chemistry because "I liked the teacher and it was fun when I got the hang of it."

"Going to Sentinel for welding was my favorite," said Braxton Frisch. "It taught me what I wanted to learn for my future and allowed me to make money while in school."

"English because it wasn't boring like I felt elementary was," Kalyn England said.

"Physics," said Eli Chevalier, "it combines science and math."
