Saddle Up for a Rodeo Fest Trail Ride

By JEN MILLER
Staff Writer

Hawley Rodeo Fest is a week-long tradition in Hawley, which kicks off with Breakfast on the Farm and ends with the Saturday night performances of the Barnes PRCA Rodeo. Events such as Cowboy Church, the Hawley Health Fair, and the Rodeo Parade continue to be the cornerstone of Rodeo Fest, while new events put on by RDO and the Hawley Library popup here and there, adding to the excitement.

We have a lot to explore along the Rodeo Fest trail, so let's saddle up and ride. This year, the Lil' Riders Rodeo Series (LRRS) will kick things off with its Kickoff Ceremony on Friday, May 29, at 6:30 p.m. at the Hawley Rodeo Grounds. If you're new to these parts, the LRRS is how the youngsters around here get their start ridin' and ropin'. The community is welcome to sit hillside to watch and cheer on the lil' riders as they saddle up and compete in rodeo events catered to their age groups.

Since we're in for a busy week, the Hawley Lions have once again offered to whip up breakfast for the entire community on Saturday, May 30, at Kasin Farms. This annual event is known as Breakfast on the Farm. The kiddos love it because it's about the only time they get ice cream with their breakfast.

On Sunday, May 31, folks are invited back to the Hawley Rodeo Grounds for Cowboy Church, which starts at 10:00. Following worship, the Hawley Golden Riders will break in the rodeo arena with an afternoon of Team Roping. People are more than welcome to sit hillside and cheer the contestants on as the header and heeler work

The rain didn't stop these cowgirls from going to the rodeo.
