

Miley Ann Hove

By Myla Quam

Miley is the daughter of Chris Hove and Tricia Brua. She is the youngest, with two older sisters, Madison and McKayla. Miley was born on November 12, 2007, in Grand Forks, North Dakota.

During her high school years, she participated in volleyball and basketball. Miley served as captain of her basketball team for two years, which she really enjoyed. One of the things Miley will miss most about high school is playing basketball and not being around her classmates every day. Throughout high school, Miley made the A honor roll quite often.

The person Miley admires most is her mom, Tricia. She looks up to her because she has always been there for her through everything. Tricia has never missed a basketball or volleyball game and always knows how to keep her positive and motivated. She is always willing to help Miley with anything she needs and has inspired her to become who she is today. Miley knows she can always count on her mom for support and guidance through every step of life.

Miley's advice to underclassmen is to get involved in as many activities as you can. She believes that is where some of the best memories are made. Miley said, "I had the best memories playing basketball and being with the team. It's going to be sad not being with them anymore." She encourages others not to wish the time away because it will go by faster than you think.

One of Miley's most memorable moments in high school was when her basketball team made it to state during her sophomore year. It was a very exciting experience and something she will always remember.

Miley's most prized possession is her dog, Bo. He is very sweet and means a lot to her. One funny thing about Bo, Miley says, "Whenever he gets a haircut, he always looks like Sid the sloth." No matter what, Bo will always be special to her and will always bring her comfort.

As Miley enters the next chapter of her life, she will be completing an online course in the fall to get her real estate license. Along with that, a few of her goals are to become a successful real estate agent, get rich, own a beach house in Texas, and own a Cadillac Escalade—all with a happy family.

Some of her favorite school activities and hobbies include being an artist and drawing. She is on the B honor roll, which is a great accomplishment. She has never had a job before, so going straight into the workforce will be something new and a bit challenging for her. She would say her most embarrassing moment is her senior quote: "People don't truly think of making a project or the difficulties of making the project. They only see the final product. This is why artists are so overlooked."

Her most memorable moment was going to Minneapolis. Annavin's pet peeves include "really annoying AI slop," AI artists being considered "real artists," and being interrupted. Her advice to underclassmen is, "If you can't say anything nice, don't say anything at all." She admires Will Wood the most because his music is really good.

Her favorite TV show is Avatar: The Last Airbender. Her favorite movie is The Truman Show. Her favorite movie star is Freddy Carter, and her favorite book is Six of Crows.

She would definitely say her favorite teacher is Mr. McColl. He is great and the GOAT (greatest of all time). Her goals in life are to run a small business, create a popular and fun game that everyone would want to play, and create a website—goals that aim to make people happy.

When asked what she will miss most about high school, she said the routine of coming to school, along with her friends and teachers. There isn't much involvement with the community for her, as she mostly focuses on her own hobbies and activities. Her most prized possession is definitely her art supplies, and she really likes cats.

Max Everett Heide

By Jake Wickham

On March 7, 2008, Michael and Cassandra Heide went to Sanford Hospital in Bemidji, Minnesota, where a little redheaded boy named Max Everett Heide was born, ready to take on the world. As a kid, Max played with dirt bike and snowmobile toys, and that part of him never changed—the toys just got bigger and more expensive.

Max has a passion for finding Facebook Marketplace deals on snowmobiles and dirt bikes that have issues. He fixes them and sells them for more than he bought them for. This winter, he fixed four snowmobiles and four dirt bikes.

During the summer months, Max is a hard worker. He enjoys working for his uncle at Erich's Excavating LLC. When working there, he works from sunup to sundown doing things like laying concrete, servicing wells, working cattle, laying waterlines, and digging graves. Max has also worked for the City of Fosston. His most embarrassing moment there was popping a lawn mower tire three times.

This fall, Max plans on going to lineman school in Meridian, Idaho.

When Max is not working or fixing his "toys," he still stays busy. You can find him out on the lake fishing, but he is not just fishing for anything that will bite—he is specifically fishing for largemouth bass, which has always been a passion of his.

Before wrapping this up, there is one last very important thing about Max: he was voted the funniest member of the Class of 2026.

You're headed for big things...
